

TWO DEAD RESULT OF TRESTLE'S FALL.

One of Six Men Taken to Hospital Died During the Night.

ACCIDENT IN THE HERD BOTTOM

Fourteen Loaded Cars Fell When Supports Gave Way—Foreman Had a Narrow Escape From Death, Victims Buried Under Wreckage.

Two men are dead and five were painfully injured as the result of a trestle collapse in the Herd Bottom, south of town, at 2:15 yesterday afternoon. The trestle was used by the Robert Hill Construction Company in making a big fill for the new Western Maryland railroad. The victims were caught in the wreckage of the 11 loaded dump cars which went down in an indiscriminate mass. Reports that other victims were buried under the debris proved incorrect as all of the men on the work at the time were accounted for.

The dead, SUGENIO CASTELL, aged 35 and single, lived at Dunbar. Instantly killed. PIOTIMIRO DE MARCIA, aged 35 and married, lived at Dunbar. Died at hospital without regaining consciousness. Sustained fracture at base of skull and compound fracture of right leg.

The injured, GIACOMO PICCHINI, aged 30 and single, lives at Dunbar. Sustained fracture of right femur and chest crushed. LUCIO AGUCCA, aged 25 and single, lives at Dunbar. Fracture of right femur.

GABRIANO DI PIETRO, aged 35 and married, lives at Dunbar. Injured about the hip. WILLIAM SANDERS, aged 42 and married, lives at Wheelers. Fracture of right elbow and two scalp wounds. LONNIE MITCHELL, aged 19 and single, lives at Dunbar. Head and body left hanging from trestle.

Immediately after the accident work was rushed to town for physicians. Drs. A. J. Colborn and H. J. Coll responded and went to the scene. Dr. H. P. Atkinson started for the scene of the accident but the ambulance returning with two of the injured and returned to the hospital. The two negroes were taken to the Cottage State hospital in the ambulance while the four injured Italians were placed on an ambulance of a Pennsylvania freight train and brought to town, being removed to the hospital in the ambulance after it completed its first run. De Marcia was unconscious when brought to the hospital and died shortly after midnight without regaining consciousness. All of the victims save Sanders and Bush were Italians. Engineer M. C. Hara had charge of the dinky which ran 11 loaded cars out on the trestle. Although the company had been occasionally running 12 and 14 cars, lately it had been the custom to make up two trains of shorter length. The trip to the end of the trestle was made in safety.

The engine and several cars were on the solid fill. The laborers had just left their places to begin dumping the cars when the crash came. The trestle collapsed for a distance of 150 feet, carrying down the first five or six cars. The others were drawn over the brink. Engineer Hara reversed his engine when he heard the crash. The coupling snapped at the first car and only the engine remained on the trestle. Hara owes his life to the fact that he reversed promptly and the coupling snapped.

Fireman Joseph Myers was standing on the dump when the trestle gave way. He leaped to safety and escaped without a scratch. Castell was the brakeman. He occupied a seat on the first dump car. He was carried down and crushed beneath the debris. Death was instantaneous.

Foreman Myers immediately organized a rescue party and the injured men were extricated as quickly as possible. The timekeepers endeavored to check up the men on the dump and an error gave rise to the belief that one or two besides Castell remained buried in the debris. It was an hour before the list was correctly checked. One of the men on the dump had been discharged yesterday morning and another went for water not more than a minute or two before the accident.

Sanders, one of the negroes, was in the crash last winter when a dinky engine and several dump cars fell through the trestle. He escaped on that occasion with slight injuries.

Mike Acha was the Italian who escaped through being sent for water. He had not gone beyond light of the trestle before the crash came. Castell's body was removed from the wreckage and carried to a dump of trees beyond the Pennsylvania tracks. A bit of burning was thrown over his face. His body was badly crushed. Later William J. Daer, from J. L. Stader's undertaking establishment, came for the body.

NEW PRESBYTERIAN SITE SECRET UNTIL TOMORROW.

Committee Members Pledged to Secrecy but Process of Elimination Disposes of Several Sites Reported Selected.

The selection of the new site for the Presbyterian church is expected to be disclosed following the services tomorrow morning. It was reported about town this morning that the committee in charge had met last night and decided upon a site.

Chairman Thomas J. Hooper stated today that a decision had been reached but that the members were pledged to secrecy.

"There is some contention among the members regarding the new site," explained Mr. Hooper. "We therefore want to give the information to them first-hand and have it settled immediately." Various sites are reported as having been selected. Several were eliminated from consideration after talking with members of the committee. One denied that the Rockwell Marletta lot on the corner of Green and Pittsburg streets had been chosen; another said there was nothing to the report that the Henry Porter lot at Prospect and Fairview avenue was the one selected, while a third said there was nothing doing as far as the Bishop-Randino site was concerned.

dent was about 55 feet high but the fall of the dump cars was not so great because of the fill that had already been made. Cars and men crashed down a distance of between 30 and 40 feet. Owing to the fact that most of the cars were loaded with rock made the work of clearing the debris slow and difficult. Many of the cars were demolished.

DeMarcia's body was removed from the hospital to funeral director J. L. Sims' rooms on North Pittsburg street and prepared for burial. Services will be held from Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Italian church Monday morning. Interment in St. Joseph's cemetery.

Decided had been in this country for about a year, and had been employed by the Robert Hill Construction Company for about a month. He was 35 years old and married at Dunbar. He is survived by a widow and five children in the old country. The funeral of Castell will take place from Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Italian church tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment in St. Joseph's cemetery. Deceased was 23 years old. Coronor J. J. Bell will hold inquests this afternoon at which time he will empanel a jury and make arrangements for an inquest into the deaths of the two victims. Coronor Bell had expected to be here this morning but was delayed. It is expected a searching investigation into the cause of the accident and placing the responsibility will be made.

Hot Wave Makes Region Swelter

Yesterday's hot wave gained some relief from the sharp easterly storm which swept over this section shortly before 3 o'clock, the lightning being exceptionally severe and striking terror for those inclined to be timid. Some of the bolts were of sufficient force to make those shudder who usually do not mind an electrical storm.

The temperature at 5 o'clock last evening was 90 degrees. This morning it was 79 at 8 o'clock and reached 90 before noon. Unless there is a thunderstorm this afternoon heat records for the season may be broken. There was a hard rain north of here yesterday during the electrical storm. The rain in Connelville was light but from Pennsylvania north it beat down in driving sheets.

BATEMAN NEWCOMER CALLED BY DEATH.

The End Came Yesterday Afternoon at Three O'clock.

HAD BEEN ILL LONG TIME

Had Been a Resident Here Practically All His Life, Being a Son of Late John Newcomer for Years President of Young National.

Yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock Bateman H. Newcomer, a resident of Connelville for about 10 years, died at the old Newcomer homestead on East Main street, where he was born September 27, 1836. Mr. Newcomer had been ill for the past six months of liver trouble, which resulted in his death. The greater part of his life he was able to be about and on last Saturday he made his last trip down town. Saturday night he suffered the fatal attack. For a short time on Monday he was conscious. Since then he had been unconscious. Mr. Newcomer was given the best medical attention but with no avail.

Decomposed was a son of John Newcomer, deceased, and Mrs. Susan Goe Newcomer, who is in her 82nd year. His father, who died in 1902, was at his time one of the most widely known and prominent residents of Connelville, and for 20 years was president of the Young National Bank. Decemose was educated in the local public schools and soon after leaving school he went to Bradford, Pa., where he was in the oil business with his uncle Bateman Goe. From there he went to Philadelphia, O., to accept a position as superintendent of the Laurelwood Oil Company. With the exception of about ten years spent at the two places mentioned, he spent all his life in Connelville. For several years he was in the drug business with F. R. Graham. About five years ago he disposed of his interest in the business and since that time has not been engaged in any active business.

Mr. Newcomer was a member of the local lodge of Elks. There was not a better known or more highly respected man in Connelville than Mr. Newcomer. He won the friendship of all with whom he came in contact. His death is keenly felt by his circle of friends. He never married. He lived with his aged mother, who is prostrated over the death of her only son. In addition to his mother he is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Polly of Ft. Marion, and Mrs. Katherine Goe Ryan, wife of L. V. Ryan, funeral Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Newcomer residence, Lodge No. 563, D. P. O. E., of which deceased was a member, will attend the funeral in a body.

President Taft Will Use Veto IF CONGRESS PASSES TARIFF MEASURE; MUST NOT AMEND RECIPROCITY BILL.

Dispatches From Providence Say That Chief Executive is Coming Back to Washington Expecting Fight—Senator Gore Says Senate Does Not Need Tariff Board's Report to Show Iniquities of Schedule K.

Washington, June 21.—The President will accompany him to New York to day to go further into the situation. The President expects that the reciprocity bill will reach him unamended. Should a tariff amendment be tacked on to it it can be said with authority that it will be vetoed.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—The news that President Taft has determined to veto any tariff measure passed by this session of Congress will not affect the plans of the Senate allies to press the Underwood tariff bill. It was declared today that the bill was not acted upon as a separate measure without interference to the reciprocity measure.

"I think it is generally understood now that the reciprocity bill will be passed without any amendment," said Senator Gore of Oklahoma, after receiving a copy of the United Press dispatch from Providence.

He led the fight which forced the Finance Committee to report the wool and farmers' free list bill.

The question as to whether the President will veto a bill should have no bearing on the action of the Senate," continued Gore. "We do not need any report from the Tariff Board or anyone else to show that the wool tariff needs revision downward. The President himself has said that Schedule K is indefensible. I have in my possession woolen goods which I bought in Canada for just one-half the price charged in this country. The President, in referring to the reciprocity agreement, has repeatedly stated that the price of labor and the cost of production in Canada is the same as in the United States and we know that to be a fact. Then the high tariff is the only excuse for this difference in prices."

PUBLIC SPIRIT IN NORMALVILLE ACCOMPLISHES IMPROVEMENT.

Coment Sidewalk Being Laid Through Entire Length of the Town at a Cost of Several Thousand Dollars.

The little town of Normalville in Spinticket township can give some of the larger towns in Fayette county a splendid lesson in public spirit. An improvement for the benefit of the whole town is under way at Normalville as an outlay of several thousand dollars that was initiated purely for the general good it will do the whole town.

The sidewalk idea in Normalville started with a suggestion made some time ago when several citizens happened together. Subscription papers were put in circulation and the prompt responses with which they met in Normalville gave the promoters of the city beautiful scheme much encouragement. Considerable financial assistance was also received in Connelville where many former Normalville people reside and from business houses and the banks in Connelville who have the best interests of the village at heart and they gave substantial expression of their good wishes when the chance came to help out for the laying of city sidewalks in the best and most hospitable country town in Western Pennsylvania. Jones Mills and Carmichael's not excepted.

Hard Luck Tale Gets the Sheckels. A woman with a hard luck tale made a good haul on Murphy avenue yesterday. She told the sad, and story of poverty and sickness, saying she was collecting for a neighbor woman who had died.

COKE OPERATORS LOSE THEIR CASE.

The Rate of $2.50 Established by Railroads to Chicago

FROM CONNELLSVILLE REGION

Has Been Sanctioned by the Interstate Commerce Commission—Decision Causes Surprise For Its Apparent Unjustness.

Special to The Courier. WASHINGTON, June 21.—The coke producers of the Connelville and West Virginia districts and the furnace men at Chicago points have lost in the matter of their complaint against the new coke rate from the fields named to the Chicago district. The Interstate Commerce Commission has handed down a decision sustaining the $2.50 rate, which had been suspended until July 15. The rate had been $2.50 on coke for use in furnaces and $2.15 on coke for general commercial use. The commission decided that there could not be two rates on the same commodity shipped under precisely similar conditions and the railroads equalized by raising one rate and lowering the other to $2.50. The furnace owners of the Chicago territory and the coke producers maintained that $2.35 was a sufficient rate on all shipments. The railroads in the case were the Baltimore & Ohio, the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, the Pennsylvania, the Norfolk & Western, the Chesapeake & Ohio and the Kanawha & Michigan.

By an order of the Interstate Commerce Commission today the Baltimore & Ohio railroad is authorized to continue its $3 rate for through passenger fares from New York to Pittsburgh, Braddock and McKeesport, the rate being lower than from New York to stations intermediate between Patterson's Creek, W. Va., and McKeesport, provided the fares to intermediate points are not exceeded. "The rate is necessitated by competition with the Pennsylvania through business. Similarly the present $9 rate from Pittsburgh, Braddock and McKeesport to Board Brook, Plainfield, Pittsburgh and Newark, N. J., and New York, is permitted to continue but no higher rates than at present are to be charged to intermediate points. The same railroad is authorized to disregard the $9 rate from Pittsburgh to points east of New York in making up through rates from points east of New York, a similar disregard of the westbound business. The same principle is applied to fares west from Philadelphia and Chester, Pa., and east to those points over the Baltimore & Ohio, the commission recognized the compelling force of competition with a shorter line to enter on points. Excess baggage charges are treated the same as passenger fares.

Another order denies the application of the Baltimore & Ohio to continue and to establish "fines" for transportation of passengers which are in excess of the aggregate of the intermediate fares by reason of the fact that its through fares have been made to end in 0 and 5.

In making up through fares from Pittsburgh through Cincinnati to points in Indiana reached by the Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern the Baltimore & Ohio is authorized to disregard fares made from Cincinnati to the Indiana points until May 1, 1912.

The two large birthday cakes were baked by Margaret Ruth, an aunt of the little honor guests. The cakes were pink and white and contained the names of Quia Holene and Elvett Charles. There were also inserted in each cake four pink and white candles, significant of the age of the honor guests. Around the cakes were pink roses tied with pink satin ribbon. A feature amusement of the afternoon was the annual cracker hunt. The cakes were thrown on the lawn. The child collecting the largest number and the one the least number were given prizes. Freddy Knight had the largest number and Adey McCune the least. The prizes were toy animals. A picture was taken of the group and at 4:30 a dainty luncheon was served. The favors were small fans. The out of town guests, who were Elvett and James Carpenter of Connelville, Mary and Alice Durbin, and Marion Hallam of Dickerson Run were conveyed to their home in an automobile, driven by H. C. But you have judgment; you know extraordinary values—real values—when you see them. That is why you must attend the great sale now taking place in our store.

Here is a vast assortment of beautiful NEW spring goods direct from the makers and intended to be sold at Easter time. The shipment was delayed, we could not cancel our orders, so now you have the opportunity of a lifetime to fill your summer needs and save large sums on everything.

ADVERTISING.
THE DAILY COURIER is the only daily newspaper in the Connelville coke region which has the honesty and courage to print a daily report under oath of the vast number of coke plants for distribution. Other papers put forth some extravagant claims, but furnish no figures. Advertising rates on application.

THE WEEKLY COURIER is the recognized organ of the Connelville coke trade. It has special value as an industrial journal and an advertising medium for such interests.

SATURDAY EVENING, JUNE 24, 1911.

THE CHICAGO COKE RATE CASE.

The Connelville coke operators will incline to view with distrust Government Regulation as expounded by the Interstate Commerce Commission in the Chicago rate case.

The rates on Connelville coke to Chicago were $2.35 on furnace coke and $2.65 on foundry coke. The Interstate Commerce Commission made its first error by declining that there must be no "discrimination" and that the rate on all coke must be the same. Whereupon the railroads very considerably and most complacently set the rate on all coke at $2.50, which rate the commission has confirmed in spite of the protests of operators and furnaces.

The Interstate Commerce Commission seems to have utterly ignored the fact that from 90 to 95% of the coke shipments to Chicago are furnace shipments. Upon the basis of 90% furnace coke the average Chicago rate was $2.35. The commission now contends that the railroads may increase this rate to $2.50, an advance of over 8%.

The equitable revision of railroad rates is a timely task and one worthy of master minds. It begins to look as if the Interstate Commerce Commission needs some new blood.

THE UNNECESSARY POSTAL SAVINGS BANK.

The Postal Savings Bank in Connelville was not a matter of choice on the part of Postmaster Kurtz, but a matter of necessity. The Postoffice Department established it without the aid or consent of the local authorities. Connelville must have it whether she wants it or not.

We must confess that our understanding of Postal Savings Bank bill has been most erroneous. Together with the American public we were under the impression that the Postal Savings Bank was created for the express purpose of affording banking facilities to communities which did not have banks.

It now seems that the object of the bill is to enable the Government to compete with local banks. It is true that local depositories are designated, but that does not alter the fact that the Government is soliciting the public to place their savings in its care to the exclusion of the legitimate business of the national banks which the Government supervises carefully, so carefully that their failure is a most unusual occurrence.

Connelville has plenty of savings banks and they are all sound and safe. We do not need a Postal Savings Bank. We have not asked for it. It should not be thrust upon us.

If this is the manner in which the Postal Savings Bank law is to be administered, it had better be repealed.

THE COMMERCIALISM OF THE MAD DOG.

Dutch Bottom in wrought up over the disturbing question whether a little girl has been bitten by a dog, or whether she lacerated her ear on a nail.

Of course the dog is mad. The health authorities never take any chances on that question. The dog is not a citizen and consequently is not entitled to the benefits of the doubt. On the contrary, the doubt is, in the interest of humanity, resolved against the canine.

While we are constrained to endorse this policy of municipal government, we nevertheless think the dog should have justice, too.

There is a growing suspicion that the mad dog racket is being worked to a frazzle, and that the work of the Pasteur Institute is becoming more a matter of commercialism than of science or philanthropy.

In order to relieve ourselves of the suspicion of bias, it might be well to state that we do not own a dog.

Rockwood wanted a new and better freight station, but not until the crossroads neighbors demanded it did she get it. The freight station is more powerful than the city.

Lawn tennis is coming back. Its return was inevitable. It is such a lovely game.

Look out for counterfeit money on 10 and 20 bills. It doesn't make a bit of difference to the editor's fraternity because they never get their money in such large denominations, but the tax man and the water man, the milk man and the grocer had better watch out.

It's not always wise to talk back to the court.

The Western Maryland is fond of tooting its own whistle, but its blasts all spell Connelville's progress, so we are willing to excuse them.

THE OLD TIME DISTILLERY.

By JAMES OF YUKON.

AN OLD TIME DISTILLERY. CONSIDERATION leads us to the conclusion that the best sparkling testimony that can be offered in case of that from old men who have seen the line, in matter of old time distilleries.

The keepers of these little houses would give us a good time if we were permitted to have their way in the distillery, but as soon as they see some other woman who will not be so easily won, they are not so reliable.

Before the war, this land was dotted with as many little distilleries as there were houses.

Heat Your Home
Every new home built this summer should be heated by a Munson Heater. Ask your plumber or your friends that have seen or heard of the Munson Heater and they will tell you that no home is complete without a Munson Heater.

THE Glorious Fourth
this year will be a great day for you, Mr. Mann, because you're going to get a present you didn't expect. We are going to give to every man who orders a suit of clothes from us before the first of August an extra pair of trousers made to his order. Just a gift, that's all; because the price of the suit remains the same. Are you wise?
